

Roundtable for Teams

Move beyond traditional “team building” and engage your team in a process to build working relationships that cultivate a high performance culture. The Roundtable for Teams coaching process will help you define your team legacy, enhance performance, and accelerate results.

Whether you’re a newly formed team establishing your vision, or a seasoned team re-calibrating your legacy, the Roundtable for Teams coaching process will get you there. Using a combination of individual and team assessments and coaching sessions, our flexible framework targets your team’s most pressing opportunities in order to enhance performance immediately. Explore the questions that matter, create action plans that get implemented all while expanding each team members individual impact.

About The Roundtable

The Roundtable is where leaders cultivate their leadership, together.

Our award-winning group and team coaching programs deliver measureable and sustainable results.

I was massively impressed with the team coaching work you were involved in with our Operations team. This was a team in search of an identity and I will confirm that they definitely found it. For me, this is one of the most inspiring and heartwarming stories I have heard in recent years. Just wanted to pass on my thanks for your help in helping solve a challenging, yet critically important issue for us.
